

...a Glimpse of Seminary Life

English speaking OPEN WEEK
at the SEMINARY OF THE CHRISTIAN COMMUNITY STUTTGART

20th – 25th MAY 2012

INVITATION

The Stuttgart Seminary is one of three full-time seminaries where priests of the Christian Community receive their training. The purpose of the seminary is not only to train people wishing to follow the path to priesthood, but particularly in the first year also to provide an opportunity for people to take time out of their normal lives in order to explore their life questions as well as to deepen their connection to the Christian Community and Anthroposophy.

Our English speaking Open Week is especially designed to encourage people (18 – 42 years of age), who do not yet speak German, to gain a lively experience and insight into seminary life and the training.

COURSES & CONTENT

Georg Dreissig (Co-Seminary leader Stuttgart) will hold a main course about "Priesthood in the 21st century" and Gisela Wielki (Co-Seminary leader Spring Valley/USA) will offer an artistically focused course on "Unspelling the world: from thing to being". There will also be ongoing classes including Gospel studies, speech formation, Eurythmy and Bothmer gymnastics. The whole week will be embedded in the atmosphere and community of the Seminary, with current students looking forward to talking to you and sharing their experiences. Each day will begin with the Act of Consecration of Man, meals will be shared. There will be plenty of opportunities for individual conversations and consultation with the seminary leaders.
